Hi! I need to translate the following phrase, but I'm stuck: "Let's put it on the parking lot until we have time to address it." My attempt: "Vamos a anotar lo en el estacionamiento hasta que lo ..."

I would vote for parking space. There's a lot of overlap, and they're mostly interchangeable, but space evokes more of an officially marked out area, whereas spot works better ...

The bookstore is very big and there is a parking lot/space/place beside it. Do a parking lot, space, and place refer to the same thing? And which should I use here? Thanks.

But because "space" can be countable or uncountable, so can "parking space". There is not enough parking space in the new housing development. That is, the amount of space allocated ...

Any thoughts on which of these is/are correct: visitors guide visitor's guide visitors' guide All three seem to be in wide use on the internet. Thanks.

After all, we drive into the parking lot. The parking lot is also a two-dimensional area, but it can be three-dimensional if the parking lot is enclosed (with a roof), which adds the notion of ...

You can leave it in the parking lot, the parking area (of certain public events), the parking garage or whatever but it needs something after parking. You can say, "My car is in the lot across the ..."

En plena oscura traducci3n, me ha asaltado una duda con nocturnidad y alevos4! En castellano se escribe "Parking" o "Parking"? O ambas formas est4n aceptadas? Gracias mil, ...

So, we have a parking place and a parking space in AE and a car park in BE to talk about individual places. And a parking lot is an open area where there are many parking spaces, parking ...
